

Violin Plot

It show the distribution of the data points after grouping by one or more variables. Unlike a box plot, each violin is drawn using a kernel density estimate of the underlying distribution.