

Bias and Variance

Bia = Measure how far off the predicted value is from the actual value in favor of the simplicity of the model

Variance = Measure how much the model's performance fluctuates in response to a small change in the training data.